

Tarmac Delays

A tarmac delay occurs when an airplane on the ground is either awaiting takeoff or has just landed and passengers are held onboard, away from the gate, with the door closed.

While traveling with Air Tindi, we can assure you there will be no cases where an aircraft will hold on the tarmac for an extended period of time. Working separately from the main terminal in Yellowknife in conjunction with the size of the airports we serve, enables us to avoid many delays other carriers face regularly.
